

Traditional greek/cypriot songs

Musical group:

Oikonomidou Mirto 11 – solo singing

Stogia Anastasia G32 – acoustic guitar

Xristodoulou Orestis B31 – bouzouki
– laouto

Samo elenh A11 – Flute

Το γιασεμί

(meaning the jasmine)

A traditional Greek folk song that has been passed down through

Like many folk songs, its exact origins are unclear, but it is widely recognized in Greece and has been performed in different regional styles.

“Αγάπησά την που καρkiάς” (“I Loved Her with All My Heart”) is a traditional Cypriot folk song with a deeply emotional and romantic theme. The song expresses the sorrow of someone who has loved deeply but experiences loss or rejection.

Το Ζεϊμπέκικο της Ευδοκίας

Is one of the most famous Greek instrumental pieces, composed by Manos Loizos in 1971. It is widely regarded as one of the greatest zeibekiko compositions in Greek music history.

Origin: The piece was written as part of the soundtrack for the Greek film “Ευδοκία” (Evdokia), directed by Alexis Damianos. The film tells the tragic love story of a soldier and a young woman named Evdokia, set against the backdrop